1. A warm welcome was extended to everyone by Chairman Elwyn Evans. There was an apology from Cllr Dylan Jarman and Miriam Webb.

At the beginning of the meeting, Elin William from Gwynedd Council was welcomed to give an update on the LleChi/LleNi project. She mentioned the £33 thousand that has been earmarked for Abergynolwyn, and also the separate grant program for this of £10 thousand, as a revenue or capital grant. She would discuss the questionnaires at hand with her colleagues, but there would still be more consultation. It was possible that there would be a public meeting. It was mentioned about the need to republish books from the area, namely the book by Caradog Roberts and Elwyn Roberts, where there was a specific chapter on the quarries. However this was not allowed under the programme. Despite this, it was said that it would be possible to try to put them on the Council's website, and Elin promised to have a word with Hannah Gwenllian, who looked after our website, to look at the possibilities.
